Kahnawake is a Kanien’kehaka (Mohawk) community near Montreal. In 1978, Kanien’kehaka parents pulled their children out of the provincial school system and established the Kahnawake Survival School, the first Native-controlled high school in Quebec. From 1978 to 1990, UMass Amherst School of Education faculty and students worked as co-teachers and interns at the Kahnawake Survival School.

Come and be a part of this historic event as the people who made this history come together to discuss, explain, and assess their achievements.
